Headline:
Cold with bright or sunny spells, wintry showers dying away.

Today:
Cold with bright or sunny spells along with scattered, mainly light, wintry showers gradually dying away. Risk of icy patches on untreated surfaces at first. Feeling cold everywhere, but especially along the coast with a brisk wind here. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
The wind will ease to become very light, and long clear spells will develop, allowing a widespread sharp frost to develop with a risk of icy patches on untreated surfaces. Minimum temperature -6 deg C (21 deg F).

Sunday:
After a very frosty start, it will remain dry and largely sunny, although later high cloud will arrive. Feeling cold, despite light winds, with temperatures quickly falling after dark. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Monday frosty start, then dry with sunny spells. Tuesday there is potential for a spell of heavy snow, with significant accumulations. Wednesday cold, with a mix of rain or snow.
